

PRESS RELEASE

Updated compression software reduces the size of PowerPoint® files by up to 95%

1st November 2005, London - Neuxpower Solutions has released NXPowerLite 2.0, a brand new version of the leading presentation compression tool. NXPowerLite reduces the size of Microsoft® PowerPoint® presentations (as well as StarOffice® and OpenOffice.org presentations saved in the PowerPoint format) by compressing the graphics and embedded documents contained within them, making them easier to manage, distribute and use.

In today's mobile business environment, storage and bandwidth are at a premium. Presentations that have been optimised with NXPowerLite take up less space. They lessen the load on corporate communication networks, decrease the chances of oversized emails being returned and reduce bandwidth costs for people that regularly transfer presentations over the web.

NXPowerLite 2.0 can reduce the size of presentation files by as much as 95% with no discernible loss of quality. Completely re-written from the ground up, it's faster and more effective than previous versions of the product and features a streamlined user interface.

Mike Power, Neuxpower's Managing Director, comments "The original version of NXPowerLite was very well received by the global business community. And those that have previewed NXPowerLite 2.0 are confident that it be even more effective at combatting the problems associated with large presentation files."

Neuxpower has also released NXPowerLite 2.0 Integrated Edition - an installable version of NXPowerLite that lets users optimise their presentations from the PowerPoint® menu bar, or by right-clicking them in Windows® Explorer. Mike adds "Many NXPowerLite users love the fact that it is a stand-alone tool that makes no changes to their PowerPoint® installation. But some people have told us that they would prefer to optimize their presentations from within PowerPoint®. With NXPowerLite 2.0 we offer you the choice."

NXPowerLite 2.0 is available to purchase immediately through leading software resellers or from www.nxpowerlite.com. A fully functional evaluation version is available to download from the site.
